CHICAGO, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 31, 1898.

PRICE, 5 CENTS

FRANK BELL AGAIN.

For the horses it was an ideal racing day at Harlem; for the people the weather was too warm for comfort. The track was in perfect fix. The card was as good as can be framed in the light of the latter day penchant for allowances.

The La Salle Stakes—one-half mile, for two-year-olds—was worth $1,140 to the winner, $200 to the second and $100 to the third. Frank Bell and Ailyar each carried a three pound penalty. Elmer S. had the ten pound maiden allowance.

Two of the best sprinters in the United States, according to such persons as swear by the time test, were engaged in the curtain raiser in the chestnut gelding O'Connell and the bay filly Flora Louise. Both at this track have won their last races and none could predict which would be the favorite in the betting. The honor fell to Flora Louise, she opening at 1 to 2 and O'Connell at 2 to 1. A rapid, although small, play on the latter sent his price to 8 to 5, but the wary pencilers raised the favorite to 3 to 5, and so had a winning book "with two running," and this was "water on their wheel."

As much as some money came in on Amy Wade at 5 and on Plantain at 20 to 1. Amy Wade rising to 10 to 1 straight and 2 to 1 place, was strongly supported by form players, and they came within a neck of getting the money from the heavily backed Flora Louise, who had been bet on at 7 to 10. The start was a perfect one, for a sixteenth the quartet appearing to race on even terms. Then O'Connell went out and and led to the last quarter, Flora Louise lapped on and Amy Wade two lengths back of the favorite. Plantain was beaten in the first three-eighths and finished away back of O'Connell. The latter was deprived of the lead just as the last turn was made, but Flora Louise was soon hustled by Amy Wade, upon whom McNickle tried to get through next the rails, but as Everett on the favorite asserted his right and held the fort himself Amy Wade raced on the outside. At the last sixteenth she was neck and neck with Flora Louise but instead of sailing by "all out" she could only hold her position, although the pair ran home under whip and spur. Flora Louise landing by a short neck. O'Connell, third, was many lengths away. It was the tightest kind of a fit and the bookmakers sighed at losing so charming a "break."

Lady Callahan, spoiling a good start at the breakaway, Don Quixote cavorted past the timers' stand and jostled off J. Reiff, who was picked up and thrown astride his hooded steed. Off to a fair break, Lady Callahan showed in front around the first turn, Alleviate second and Don Quixote third. Once straightened out, the favorite flew up the backstretch in front, he having passed Lady Callahan before reaching the half mile ground. Alleviate was here third, Three Bars fourth leading the bunch some lengths behind Lady Callahan. The leaders, separated by five lengths, struck the straight with Lady Callahan dying fast. Here Yuba Dam was set going by J. McDonald and Buck Franklin's horse (a "good thing" for "show" spoiled by a railbird tout, who for the three dollars a day of a bookmaker kept the "show" "10 to 1 show" down to 2 to 1), taking a short road around the bend, ran past Lady Callahan, and at the last eighth, urged on, brought the favorite to the whip close in. Don Quixote won however by open daylight, while Lady Callahan, a poor third, had hard work to beat Alleviate. The others were beaten off. Dare II, who had never run at all, finishing absolutely last.

With the withdrawal of Jinks, Excursion, Gauntlet, Sevens, Miss Marion, Spirituelle and Hardy Pardee the stake race looked as if struck by a thirteen inch shell. The betting was entirely between Frank Bell and Ailyar. Pat Dunne backed his colt and the story went that it was Dunne instead of McCormick who had bought Jinks, and so it could easily be figured that the new owner did not care to start two, and his support of Ailyar caused the wise-aces to smile and say "another of Pat's good things, eh!" and put their money down. On paper it looked as if Frank Bell could not lose and the result showed that Ailyar had no chance at so short a distance as one-half mile, as once away he was outrun so far in the first quarter that he "tip-toed" and although he closed the gap somewhat, was easily beaten, although the jockey on the winner was riding with his hands at the finish. The other starter, Elmer S, caused a sensation. At the post he ran away again and again, was stopped and brought back after Caywood had dismounted; got away from McKnight, the powerful assistant starter; ran the wrong way of the track; was lassoed, and, finally, with Caywood hanging on for dear life to a buck-jumping, kicking, biting brute that would be a good foil for one of Buffalo Bill's rough riders, the start was made when Elmer S was coming as tight as he could run. The others were off together. Elmer S ran right past his competitors and led for an eighth, where Frank Bell passed him. Ailyar did not get to Elmer S for another quarter and the latter finished fairly strong and was surprisingly close up. It is said that Fred Foster, when handling Elmer S at New Orleans last winter, said that he was the fastest horse he ever saw, and could run five-eighths in 1:01 carrying 130 pounds.

Mr. W. H. May, who sold Jinks Monday, said, as the horses went to the post: "I wish she was in this race, for I think she could win. Of course I would have liked to have kept her until Wednesday, but a bird, etc. I do not know who bought Jinks. She is in Pat Dunne's barn, but Jimmy McCormick paid me the money for her."

When John Bright, a 1 to 2 shot had finished third in the fourth race it was natural to suppose that the bookmakers had in part recouped the losses sustained through the winning of the first three favorites. But despair was visible on the faces of several of the pencilers, for two place moneys must needs be paid. Found fled away from the post like a startled hare. Farther and farther away she went, so that at the half she looked to be, with the clear lead of five lengths she had over Azucena, too far off to be caught. John Bright had been "laid off," but here he began to race and Azucena moved along to stall him off. Found pricked up her ears and also accelerated her pace. Into the straight she came, running smoothly, and the race seemed over, particularly as John Bright, here sent to the whip, could not catch Azucena. The Bashford Manor Farm of George J. Long has for many years borne the reputation of turning out staying stock, and now its champion showed her mettle, and, coming on bravely, she gradually closed on Found and eventually wore her down and beat her. Neither J. Woods, on the winner, nor McNickle, on Found, could help much and the fillies ran home on their courage. John Bright's race was a bad one.

Eugenia Wickes, first off, made a runaway race of the fifth. Inspector Hunt was second for five-eighths, much of the time being several lengths ahead of the others, led by Lone Princess on the upper turn. Diggs was last for three-eighths, then he raced to the second place at the last eighth, where Inspector Hunt, dying fast, managed to last to the wire, beating Cherry Leaf for the third money.

J. Reiff again took the long chance, and by so doing won on Treachery in the last race. Globe

II, had blazed the way, attended by Tom Calvert, to the far turn where George Krats and Tranby were close up and Murphy's horse being outrun. Globe II, George Krats and Tranby as they struck the home stretch apparently had the race to themselves. Globe stopped at the last sixteenth, and Knight on George Krats having Tranby safe was going on as if to a picnic when "See Treachery" was heard. Little Reiff had hugged the rail and was now coming fast with Galen Brown's mare. One hundred yards from the goal she was still third, but at every jump she gained and much to the surprise of everyone Reiff got Treachery through the smallest of holes next the fence and won the race in the last two strides. Knight on George Krats could have shut Reiff out, but by so doing he might have caused the boy's death. Tranby finished a close third. Morte Fonse was away last up the back stretch.

Col. Clark no longer rings his big bell on the judges stand calling the horses to the post. The electric bell in the betting ring and that in the paddock now tell the tale, and speculators are much more apt to stay among the bookies until "they're off" is heard.

John Rodegaph has not started a horse in the last eight days at Harlem. He said: "My horses got off at the time of the rains, so I thought I would give them a rest. They will be ready in a week or so."

"Found runs best with weight on," said "Paddy" Ryan, and a friend laughed in response: "And so does John Bright." A third party got in with: "But both like a long price." Chris Smith was out for the first time in two weeks. He said, "I have been around the world and picked up a little money. You see, I have on my 'sparklers'."

The wonder is that Jack Haverly, so long a patron of the turf, has since being in Chicago not visited his old friends at the race course.

Hiram Scoggan said, "Flora Louise was game but had no speed. She couldn't beat thirty-six seconds the first three-eighths."

There were seventeen regular and two field bookmakers.

Tom Mackin was a visitor.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

Secretary Harry Kuhl has issued the book program for next week at Hawthorne. Monday and Saturday are the stake days. On each of the other four days the book provides for four $400 purses and one $500 purse. The Ontario Handicap for three-year-olds, one mile, will be run off Monday. Traverser, Bannockburn, Lieber Karl, John Bright, Eddie Jones, Belle of Memphis, Pinochle, Found, Dave Waldo, Mary Black and Sardonic are among the youngsters entered. Obviously a good race should mark the decision of this stake.

There will probably be an extra day's racing, this week or next, either at Brighton Beach or Sheepshead Bay track. The object is to help the widow of Charles Victor Sass, and horsemen and officials are unanimous in helping the good cause along. It is understood that the Jockey Club will sanction any open date selected and that several officials will tender their services gratuitously.—New York Sun.

When Handpress won at Sheepshead Bay Monday he was bid up $1,100 over his entered selling price by John J. McCafferty. Phil Dwyer then bid the horse in at an advance of $5. In the bidding up lies a story. Phil Dwyer was one of the stewards of Saratoga who sat in judgment of McCafferty when the latter was accused of pulling Lexington Pirate. McCafferty's license as a jockey was taken away. Handpress winning gave McCafferty a chance to get even.

HAMBURG SENT WEST.

As stated informally some time ago Marcus Daly's noted three-year-old champion, Hamburg, has probably seen his last days as a racing machine. When the Saratoga association made overtures in the early stages of their meeting for a special race, to include the great son of Hanover—Lady Reel, his owner replied that the colt would not run again in America. This answer was accepted by some horsemen as indicating that Hamburg might race in England, but that idea now seems to be exploded, at least as far as this season is concerned. Hamburg has been shipped west to his owner's Bitter Root Stud, accompanied by his fleet stable companions, Ogden and Isidor. All three have proved good winners for the sporting "Copper King" since the season opened, and their retirement, if permanent, will cause general surprise. After his unexpected defeat in the Belmont Stakes, Hamburg began to show his true form, and his name will be treasured in racing history as the winner of the Realization Stakes and the Brighton Cup. Ogden ran second in the latter event, and, prior to that, won an owners' handicap at Brighton Beach and the Long Island Handicap and an overnight event at the Sheepshead Bay spring meeting. Isidor scored a few times among the best of the sprinters, and the trio are at no lack for laurels on which to rest until they win fresh ones at the stud.—New York Sun.

MONTANA RACING.

Secretary E. C. Hopper, of the Latonia Jockey Club and American Turf Congress, who was presiding judge on the Montana racing circuit this summer, is home again from the far west. Secretary Hopper came away before the meeting at Anaconda, Mont., closed to get things arranged for the fall meeting at Latonia, which opens on October 1. The meeting at Anaconda will wind up racing in Montana for the summer, and nearly all the stables that do not go to Frisco will come east to race. In speaking of the sport of Kings in Montana this season, Mr. Hopper said the meetings held at Butte City and Anaconda were the greatest ever given in that part of the country, and were successful in every respect. There were no bookmakers in line at any of the tracks, mutual machines being the only system of betting. These machines are under the supervision of Lew Hopper, a brother to Secretary Hopper, and he will remain out west until the meeting at Anaconda comes to an end.

Mutual machines are very popular with the race-going public in that section of the country, and are much more profitable to the association than an open ring for bookmakers. The sports that attend the races at Anaconda and Butte are mostly heavy plungers, and it is an ordinary occurrence for one man to bet as much as $5,000 in the mutuals to one race alone. The class of horses that raced on the Montana circuit this summer was far better than those of the previous season, and there was also plenty of good jockey talent on hand.

The Montana people like to see the shortbred horses race, and nearly every day or so there would be a race on the card for the half-breeds, and they generally furnished the liveliest kind of a contest. The distance for these races was three-eighths of a mile, and the horses that participated in events of this kind were, as a rule, fast as a shot over such a short journey.

Joe Redmon and Crit Davis were among the successful owners that raced on the circuit. Redmon's horses did well throughout the meeting, and only last Saturday he won a big stake with his useful old campaigner, Serrano.

Mr. Hopper will put in his time from now until October 1 looking after Latonia's fall meeting, which he hopes to make a big success.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

Hughay Jones has shipped his string to California. Huhey has nineteen horses in training, including Mainstay, Hazard, Charley Reiff, Adam Andrew, Headwater and Pat Murphy. With the exception of Headwater, none of his horses seems to be of any account. Jones was one of the leading winning bookmakers at the Fair Grounds this season. He has first call on Jockey McDonald's services, and invariably favored McDonald's mounts in his book, especially if they figured to have a chance. Jockey McDonald was the best money maker in the Jones string. Hughay should give away all his skates, keep McDonald and stick to making book.—St. Louis Republic.

THE WINNERS AT ST. LOUIS.

St. Louis horsemen fared well at the Fair Grounds this season. J. C. Cahn of this city led the winning owners with over $10,000 to his credit. Crockett has been the chief breadwinner of the Cahn string. She won three stakes. Mr. Cahn's other breadwinners were Fausturo, Chancery, Belle Ward and Sorrow. C. C. Maffitt's stable is second on the list with over $9,000. Mr. Maffitt won thirty races with Gibraltar, Fireside, Sir Rolla, Ostric II, Cousin Lizzie and Lord Neville. Abe Cahn won over $9,000 at the meeting with Buckvidere, Linda, Sir Gatian, Verity, Nightgown, Luridan and Libation. Abe Cahn's horses were in a bad shape when the meeting opened, but they rounded to in great shape and won with remarkable regularity the latter part of the racing season. Barney Schreiber stands fourth among the winning owners with nearly $8,000 to his credit. Miss Marion, winner of the Debutante Stakes, has been the best money-maker in the Schreiber string this year. She is the best 2-year-old shown in this vicinity this season. Good Hope, Genna and Ulm, three of Schreiber's home-bred youngsters, were regular winners at the meeting. Schorr & Son finished strong, winning the Ozark and Chrysanthemum Stakes with Sea Lion. W. L. Simmons, owner of Ed Farrell, Ben Bramble and Belle Bramble is also prominent among the winning owners. John Huffman, who annexed the Inaugural and Club Members' Handicap with What'er Lou, is another one of the big winners. A list of the leading winning owners will be found below:

Winner—B. f. 3, by Florist—Mary Louise.
Off at first break to a perfect start. Won in a long hard drive of two; third driving also. Flora Louise was the best, but had one of the hardest races in her career to win. O'Connell set a terrific pace and it kept the filly busy to catch him. After she did and had him beaten, along came Amy Wade with a sensational rush. The latter put Flora to a drive at the eighth pole and from there home the two fought it out gamely. Everett's finish on the winner was powerful. He had a good hold of her head and used the whip to good advantage. Amy Wade is right on edge at present. O'Connell floundered all over in the stretch. He can do better than this. Plantain's race was not so bad. He ran in about 1:15 himself.
Scratched—Osmon, 112; Cyclone II, 109; Discipline, 112.
Amy Wade, place, 8 to 5.

8188 SECOND RACE—1 Mile and 20 Yards. 3-year-olds and upward. Allowances. Purse $400; value to winner $300; $75 to second; $25 to third.

Winner—B. c. 3, by Charaxes—Ethie.
Post 7 minutes. Start good. Won cleverly; second driven out. Third and fourth hard at it. Don Quixote had speed to loan. He is a good colt and in cracking good form. It looked on the far turn as though he was running away with little Reiff. The colt was heavily played and evidently the boy had instructions to make every post a winning one. Yuba Dam's race was far above the notch. He met with some interference and considering this his race, and judging from it, the gelding is improving. Lady Callahan had all of her usual speed and did not try to run out. She hung on gamely also when the pinch came. Alleviate may not have been ready. She was very tired at the finish. Teutonna ran a bad race as did also Dare II. The latter's performance was disgraceful. He did not have any speed whatever, although ridden hard all the way.
Overweights—Alleviate, 3 pounds.
Don Quixote, place, 4 to 5; show, 2 to 5. Yuba Dam, place, 4 to 1; show, 8 to 5. Lady Callahan, show, 3 to 1.

Winner—B. g, by Big Henry—Flora Leach.
Post 15 minutes. Start good. Won easily; second well in hand. Frank Bell was best and is a speed marvel. He raced the other two to pieces the first quarter and was eased up through the stretch. Ailyar on the strength of fast work at Hawthorne was heavily played. It was reported he reeled off three furlongs in 34 seconds handily. Elmer S. acted insanely at the post. Caywood could do nothing with him. The colt got away from the assistant starter two different times but seemed to only want to play and did not run away. During his crazy actions he broke two bridles. Caywood broke at least ten lengths behind the other horses, but the colt had a great burst of speed and was leading after going the first sixteenth.

Winner—B. f, by Pardee—Starlight.
Post 2 minutes. Start good. Won hand ridden; second driving and out to the last ounce; third eased a trifle after an early drive. Azucena was nicely ridden. Woods waited long and patiently and never made a move on the filly until the stretch was reached. He never once went to the whip and rode a neat finish with his hands and feet. Found had great speed. She was stopping badly, though, at the end. This filly apparently cannot handle weight. John Bright ran below the notch. It would be hard to find an excuse for his poor race. Everett seemed to try his best, but the judge was not satisfied and cautioned the boy. Deerfoot was outclassed and ran where he belonged.
Azucena, place, 3 to 5. Found, place, 7 to 5.

Winner—B. f, 4, by Kantaka—Genevieve.
Post 2 minutes. Start bad. Won easily; second, third and fourth were under full sail. Eugenia Wickes was the best. She was favored with a running start, though, and the way she got off could not very well have lost. From a bad beginning Diggs ran a corking race. He was practically left. Inspector Hunt deserves notice from now on. He had a lot of speed and hung on gamely through the stretch. This horse is an extraordinarily good mud runner. There was too much speed in the race for Cherry Leaf. A mile or over is his distance. Lone Princess hardly ran up to the mark.
Scratched—Organ Pilot, 102; Treopia, 105.
Overweights—Inspector Hunt, 4 pounds.
Eugenia Wickes, place, 3 to 5; show, 1 to 4. Diggs, place, 4 to 5; show, 1 to 3. Inspector Hunt, show, 8 to 1.

Winner—B. m, 5, by Hanover—Deceit.
Post 1 minute. Start good. The first three were driving to the limit. Treachery may have been the best but she was favored a lot by racing luck. Master Reiff rode the mare and rode her well. He took a desperate chance in the stretch, and squeezed through a hole that looked almost impossible for any horse to get through. It was more than a desperate chance the boy took. Had Knight, on George Krats, closed in on Treachery the mare would certainly have gone over the fence. George Krats, heavily played, ran a winning race. Tranby tired at the end. Globe II was short. He was much used the first part of it and tired when the pinch came. Morte Fonse could not raise a gallop the first part of it. Tom Calvert ran a fair race as far as he went. Valid seems to be of no account.
Treachery, place, 6 to 5; show, 3 to 5. George Krats, place, 7 to 10; show, 1 to 3. Tranby, show, even.
